President's Message

I am easily amused.

That is to say many things move me. Art (obviously), music, great moments on the sports fields, and lots of personal things too. But it's been a long while since anything moved me like Matthew.

Matthew moved me straight to Baxley GA. For those of you who don't wander down that way, it's halfway between Jesup and McRae. They farm pines there and then turn them into... whatever you make from tree fibers.

Hurricanes and I go back a long way. Over the years, I've watched them push the tide under a house I rented on the Outer Banks, buckle windows on the seventh floor in Ocean City, and cause a boat full of rescue people to row up to the second floor of a house I was in, to pluck our family out of a window. I don't do hurricanes anymore.

For me, Matthew was a gigantic nuisance and no more. Some of that was luck, but more of it was the really good people who respond to such emergencies. National Guardsmen and police kept our evacuated place safe, linesmen brought up power in record time, and people known and unknown dispensed small kindnesses. Many of the linesmen came from Alabama Power; Alabama Power took care of the islands during Hermine, and we saw some familiar faces after Matthew, and the same great work. We think highly of those guys here on the islands.

For Fort Pulaski, Matthew was much more serious. It flooded – not just the grounds, but the fort too. One of the dikes gave way, so they have a tremendous amount of cleanup to do. The fort was supposed to be the site of the quick draw on the second day of Paint Out 2016. Even though we moved Paint Out back two weeks, the fort won't be available, unless you tell us that water wings increase your quick draw skills. We'll announce the alternative site as soon as possible, and we'll let you know.

Everything else is ready to go. Spencer Meagher is eager to come to Savannah for his workshop, the folks at Holbein are ready to demo, and we still have Chippewa Square for the Paint Out on Saturday. That will be October 27th through 29th.

The end of the month will be really busy. We'll take down the show at TaCa, put up the show at Dick Blick and wrap up Paint Out for this year. There are lots of other worthwhile things going on too. When you get back to normal, there's a lot to see and do.

The dog started to eat again. The trash folks removed the contents of the fridge. The front yard is clear, and the circle in front of the house is piled to ten feet with brush. The chain saw guys come for the back tomorrow.

Almost there.

ARTIST OF THE MONTH

Amy Fix

Raised in southeast Georgia, Amy achieved her Master of Fine Art degree from Georgia Southern University. She is a painter and illustrator, known for her expressive artwork that often utilizes mark-making and value to create emotional portraits of her subjects.

Her current body of artwork focuses on the lasting impression she has from interacting with rural farm animals. Through the use of black and white media, she evokes a sense of nostalgia, while simultaneously selecting minimal compositions that focus on each animal's personality.

Her artwork has been the recipient of many awards and recognitions, including the Carolyn Joyner Memorial Scholarship, the Georgia Southern University (GSU) Graduate Women and Gender Studies Award, and the GSU College of Graduate Studies Research and Travel Grant. In 2016, her ink drawing, "Stephen," was selected for LaGrange Art Museum's Regional Exhibition, and was purchased as part of the museum's permanent collection.

Amy moved to Savannah in 2015 with her husband and dog, and just welcomed her first baby boy this October. She is looking forward to resuming her daily drawing practice and capturing the regional charm of Savannah.

Solo Art Exhibit!

I have been a busy girl, even with running away from Hurricane Mathew, I have a solo art exhibit opening November 4th.

Please share with others. It will be at Sentient Bean Coffee shop across the street from Forsyth Park. Hope to see everyone there.

Thanks,
Lisa Rosenmeier
